

Contributors to This Issue

Hipólito Rafael Chacón, PhD, a Cuban-born scholar, is Professor and Division Coordinator of Art History and Criticism in the School of Art at the University of Montana—Missoula. He received an AB in art from Wabash College and his MA and PhD degrees in art history with honors from the University of Chicago. He teaches a broad range of courses on the history of art and criticism, both within and beyond the European tradition. While focusing primarily on architectural history and historic preservation, he has published on a wide array of topics from the end of the nineteenth to the early twentieth centuries.

Steven A. Knowlton, MLIS, MA, is the Librarian for History and African American Studies at Princeton University. A member of NAVA since 2012, he serves as co-editor of Flag Research Quarterly. He has previously published in Raven; Flag Research Quarterly; College and Research Libraries; Libraries: Culture, History and Society; Library Resources and Technical Services; Serials Review; and Tennessee Historical Quarterly, among others. He is a previous winner of the Captain William Driver Award and, with Anne M. Platoff, the Best Paper Award at the Twenty-Sixth International Congress of Vexillology.

David B. Martucci is a professional antique U.S. flag appraiser and designer of more than 100 flags. He has served as the president of NAVA, the editor of NAVA News, and research assistant with the Flag Research Center. He continues to volunteer as the secretary/treasurer of the New England Vexillological Association and editor of the New England Journal of Vexillology. He has presented at several International Congresses of Vexillology and NAVA Annual Meetings and has been published in the Flag Bulletin, Maine History, NAVA News, and Raven, amongst other publications.

Kenneth W. Reynolds, PhD, FF, is an Official Historian with the Department of National Defence in Ottawa, Ontario. In addition to working on the official history of the Canadian Armed Forces in Afghanistan, he has written histories of two Canadian military regiments. In the vexillological sphere, he has previously published in Raven; Flag Research Quarterly; NAVA News; Flagmaster: The Journal of the Flag Institute; and the online edition of The Canadian Encyclopedia. In 2006 he received the Captain William Driver Award and was honoured in 2017 by being named a Fellow of the Fédération internationale des associations vexillologiques.