

TEACHING ETHICS

Volume 22, Number 1, Spring 2022

---

Table of Contents

Articles

Engineering Students' Affective Response to Climate Change: Toward a Pedagogy of "Critical Hope" and Praxis Elisa Warford .....	01
Teaching Reciprocity: Gifting and Land-Based Ethics in Indigenous Philosophy Shelbi Nahwilet Meissner .....	17
A Model for a Practiced, Global, Liberatory Virtue Ethics Curriculum Evan Dutmer .....	39
But Can I Take a Selfie?: Utilizing Photography as an Interdisciplinary Approach to Environmental Philosophy Assignments Victoria DePalma .....	69
An Imaginary of Radical Hope: Developing Brave Space for Class Discussion Benjamin V. Hole and Majestik De Luz .....	83
Learning to Reframe Problems Through Moral Sensitivity and Critical Thinking in Environmental Ethics for Engineers Andrea R. Gammon and Lavinia Marin .....	97
Respect, Resourcefulness, and Empathy: Philosophy for Children Case Studies in Environmental Ethics Senem Saner and Jessica Manzo .....	117

A Case for Ethical Reasoning: Using the 8KQ to Guide Decision-Making in Daily Life
Christian Early .....	137
Promoting Good Research Practices—Taking Responsibility for the Researchers of Tomorrow
Lena Johansson Westholm and Niclas Månsson .....	149

Book Review

Ethics of Chemistry: From Poison Gas to Climate Engineering— by Joachim Schumer and Tom Børsen
Jack R. Leff .....	167